

Genealogie Trommel

Genealogy van Adriaen de Cuyper, English public version, 2008-08-30

The information in this file was taken from page 8-88 in “Genealogie Trommel” published in Zoetermeer, The Netherlands in 1976 by the late J.G. Trommel [125]. Numbers between brackets [] refer to the original numbering system, the current numbering system and index were not in the original. This is by no means a complete translation of those 80 pages but just a summary of the bare genealogical data.

This version was updated with data for the period 1976-2008 using notes left by J.G. Trommel for the period 1976-2002, and by interviewing many family members by mail, email and hundreds of telephone calls. Be aware of the fact that these updates are not yet complete, nor always checked for accuracy. Despite the fact that this is only a preliminary version it already contains at least 95% of all members of the Trommel family that currently live and have lived in the past four centuries. We plan to complete it in the coming months, and also to publish family pictures, documents and stories in the near future. We hope you will help us to achieve these goals!

A privacy filter was applied using the program Aldfaer (www.aldfaer.nl) to prevent publishing information about people who might still be living in 2008. Therefore, this public version may be spread freely for non-commercial purposes.

Members of the Trommel family may request (by mail to genealogie.trommel@gmail.com) an access code to login to the private part of the website. There they can download complete versions, both the original and updates. Due to Dutch and foreign privacy laws, that version cannot be published or distributed to individuals that are not official member or part of the Trommel family.

You are encouraged to contact Jan Trommel ([126], eldest son of J.G. Trommel) to help him and his 25-th cousin Daniël Trommel to update the Trommel Genealogy by sending an email to either genealogie.trommel@gmail.com or jan.trommel@gmail.com, or by visiting their website www.genealogie-trommel.nl
